WHY MRS. GIBSON DID NOT TELL ALL AT FIRST.

According to Mrs. Gibson, she first told Detective Totten of what she had seen Sept. 14 on the Phillips farm on Sept. 20, but that he did not go to see her or send for her. She repeated the attempt to tell the story when Clifford Hayes was arrested on the false accusation of Clarence Schneider, and was again ignored. She was not called before Prosecutor Beckman Oct. 14. She quarrelled with the Prosecutor because he ridiculed her story of having seen the 'woman in gray" in "the basement of mbly room in St. John's, nor have rummage sales been held by that conrummage sales in the Pitman Methodist Church at George and Oliver Streets last January or February.

Because of Mr. Beekman's hostile attitude she did not tell him the rest of the story of returning to the farm after midnight. This she told to Detectives David and Totten when they went to see her four hours after she had left Mr. Beckman.

That Thursday evening after Mrs. Gibson's report to Mr. Mott, a State Trooper appeared at the Hall home and asked to see a detective who is retained by Mr. Pfeiffer. The trooper was told the detective had gone to to produce him at Mr. Mott's office and took him there late Saturday af-

After the interview with the prose cutor's detective, George Mason, Mr. Pfeiffer said:

"I emphatically and unequivocally deny that I or any one connected with me or any employee of Mrs. Hall or members of the Stevens family have been to see Mrs. Gibson, have sent her any messages or have any intention of doing so."

To Mr. Mason, Mr. Pfeiffer said;

"I am sorry to believe you think me so stupid as to do such a thing as try to interfere with witness."

The detective added his denial to that of Mrs. Pfeiffer and suggested that Mrs. Gibson was probably able to describe him because of his investigations. He demanded to be brought face to face with her. Mason, however, took no action.

When Mr. Mott came over from Newark to-day he brought with him Bertillon Expert Schwartz of the Newark police, his assistant, Detec-tive Deriveux, and George Day, the Resex County official photographer.

They went to the scene of the murder to make measurements and photographs by which the truth of Mrs. Gibson's story may be checked and ere to come back to the court house to examine the clothing-the scarf Mrs. Hall to be dyed black and the suit which William Stevens sent to a cal tailor to be cleaned when he discarded his fireman's uniform for a the Rev. OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 1 (Copyright) .- Official announcement of the appointment of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick as Canadian Minister to the United States will be made within a few days.

The change in the Government of Great Britain is responsible for this decision, which must have a very material effect on the relations between the Dominton and the United States. Premier King and his licutenants, it is understood, fear that the new Britich Premier, Bonar Law, in changing the foreign policy that has been in effect, would more or less ignore the many pressing diplomatic matters pending between Canada and Washington, such as the modernization of the Rush-Bagot treaty, and have become convinced that establishment of their own channels of communication is an immediate essential

DRUNKS IN ONE COURT IN BROOKLYN INCREASE 40 OVER LAST OCTOBER

The clerk of the Adams Street Court in Brooklyn this morning was counting up the intoxication

Former Gov. Smith speaks to-night There is no basement of Brooklyn. Mayor Hylan will preside.

At the largest meeting ever held in E. Smith ripped into Gov. Miller last night. When it is said that it was before on rare occasions. One of these was when Croker led William Jencoat in New York four years before ballots. because of the political frost glowed spread out his hands like a minister New York, Mr. Pfeiffer was asked prououncing a benediction, and said: Peerless One, the hall did not turn Smith and carved out new questions admission or hold two overflow to answer,

> And here are some of the shrapnel ired by the ex-Governor:

"Disappointed by the election returns Gov. Miller treated New York like a wayward child that had to have at all times the whip-hand held over it from Albany,"

"It is one thing to talk home rule when you are looking for votes. It is another thing to pay some attention to it when you are dealing with the affairs of a great municipality."

"For every great problem that the Governor has tackled in water power development, in transit and in port development, he has given us a quarrel rather than a practical solution. In all of these great questions people want action. Up to date they have to examine the clothing—the scarf had nothing but talk and the direct and cloak—sent to Philadelphia by responsibility for that rests upon the shoulders of the Governor himself."

> "When I go to Albany on the first of January I will, with all the energy that I possess, devote my time to removing from the Public Service Commission Act any and every provision destined to deprive the different cities of their power over the franchises and contracts between themselves and public service corporations, and I shall insist with a great deal of vigor that the Transit Commission be abolished, and that the properly and duly elected authorities of this city be charged as they should be with the con-struction and regulation of all public utilities lying within the

"Nobody in New York will be fooled by the Governor's transit talk. The Mayoralty election immediately fol-lowing the passage of his transit jegislation reflected as clearly as anything could the overwhelming opinion of the people of the city against him.

"Nothing could be more ridiculous than to have him charge Hylan, Nixon or myself with an attempt to raise car fares. Everybody that knows anything knows that the five-cent fare in this city was only saved through the efsented in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment."

"Well, you have had two years of me and you know now that you were lied to two years ago."

And here's what he said about the ousting of the Mayor:

"Among other things, it is being said that if elected I will remove the Mayor of your town. In view of the opinion entertained of each other by the Mayor and the Dem-ocratic candidate I do not know why anybody should think that the Mayor was safer in the latter's hands than in mine."

Touching upon the dry "issue" the overnor said:

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1. Painless childbirth is possible through administration of nitrous oxid oxygen, it was announced here to-day at the convention of the National Anaesthesia Research Society.

Dr. Arthur E. Guedel of Indianapolis, the discoverer, claims that babies born under this method seldom have to be resuscitated. They are pink and cry lustily at birth. Dr. Sylvester Goodman of Grant

Ida, five, daughter of Luigt Ciancipse of No. 4435 Third Avenue, Bronx, o-day has only a few bruises to exhibit as she tells her playmates of her thrilling adventure in falling under a Third Avenue "L" train at the East 180th Street Station.

Two cars passed over her, too, shee tells them, truthfully enough, and only an abrasion of the scalp and marks upon her face and hands serve as reminders of the big thrill she got when she slipped and the heavy train thungered over her body, while scores of onlookers screamed.

Ida and her brother, Umba, go to the "L" station to meet their father every night. Last night they had been waiting for some time when a train pulled in.

"I know papa will be on this train," Ida sang as she danced about the platform in delight. The train was but a few feet from her when she danced too near the edge of the platform. She slipped. The song remain where it is, on his two broad was frozen in her throat and cries of alarm rose as she vanished over the edge under the train.

MAYOR DEFENDS BIGGEST BUDGET

Laws; Silent on Evening World's Charges.

Mayor Hylan to-day issued a deense of the proposed 1923 budget of the history of New York or any other city in the world, and over $150. 000,000 higher than before the present Mayor was elected to succeed John Purroy Mitchel. The 1914 final budget WRR $199,388,157.52

"This" said the Mayor, speaking of the 1923 budget "is only $2,750,000 more than the budget for 1922, notwithstanding the large mandatory burdens imposed by the State, over which the city has absolutely no con-

The Mayor again failed to accept the challenge of The Evening World to disprove its charge that several millions have been added to the payrolls of the departments of the Mayor's thirteen favorite Commissioners. These millions were not added by Republican legislators at Albany, but by Tammany Commissioners appointed by Continuing, the Mayor said: "While there is a slight increase in the budget, the tax rate for 1923 will be about 2.70 or about four points less than this year. This decrease in the tax rate is due mainly to the increase in land values in outlying sections, and to the large volume of new pullding construction; not to any increase in the assessed values of buildings other than those recently constructed.

"The tax rate for 1923 would be at east 10 points less if there were no direct State tax of $12,595,623 imposed upon the city and included in the budget. In addition to this derect State tax the people of New York City are compelled to pay about 70 per cent. of the total cost of State Government. Besides this the city pays out of its own treasury direct, several million dollars a year for State activities imposed by law."

The City of New York had to pay 70 per cent. of the cost of the State government while John Purroy Mitchell was Mayor. There is noth ing new about the State burdens and Mayor Hylan's defense making then peculiarly applicable to the 1923 budget is not taken seriously in official circles. "In the preparation of the 1923 budget there were reductions effected which were offset by the cost of extension of other necessary activitie due to increased population and to the development of outlying districtssuch activities as police protection street cleaning, increased ferry serv ce, increased hospital facilities, etc. There are several other paragraphs the Mayer's statement which are the usual daily atacks on Chairman McAneny of the Transit Commission The Mayor concluded by stating that outside of few salary increase s to World War veterans made necessary nder the military law, there are no fthe Board of Estimate.
